Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad Protests—A Railroad War Be-

The President of the Cincinnsti, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad remonstrates to the City Council against granting permit to lay a railroad connection through the streets between the depot of the Little Miami Railroad Company and that of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, charging that it is private interest that suggests the movement for street transit—not the public

The Council is invited to examine the transfor tracks between the Ohio and Mississippi Indianapolis and Cincinnati, and Hamilton and Dayton Railroads, and at an early day, by special train, to visit Dayton, for the purpose of seeing the facilities furnished at that point for a bulaness to the East, either by way of Columbus to Baltimore and Philadelphia, or by way of Toledo, Sandusky, or Cleveland to New York and Boston.

The representative men of the financial interests about town, (except the tax payers,) were flitting about the rail, and within the bar, all of them earnest, fearful, hopeful of issues pending. The horse railroads and the locomotive railroads have sharp men at work for them, and pro and con, they were busy in favorite business of "button-holing." Railroad editors, railroad Presidents, railroad Superintendents, railroad Directors, railroad stock-dealers, &c., were on hand to culighten, to frighten, to give courage and discourage the aute-rooms were full, the areas were full, the City Solicitor's office was full. A hum of noisy chat at times swelled up so as to interfere with the transaction of business, so much se as to occasion the President, on call, to annonnee his determination to have removed all persons within the bar, except the members and reporters. A flerce contest raged between the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad and the Little Miami Railroad. The communication of Mr. L'HONNEDIEU. President of the former road, pitching into the proposed street rallroad connection, was read; it requested the Council to agree on next Saturday, the 5th inst., as a day to take a free ride to Dayton; but, although a majority voted for the ride, the rules ruled the ride out for the present. After some discusion, on motion of Mr.

The Election Riots and Outrages in Baltimore.

over one week, and Council adjourned.

The telegraph furnishes, as was expected, another series of assassinations, shootings and stabbings, (at least twelve times a year reported to the public from the par-eminent mob-governed city,) on the occasion of the election yesterday in Beltimore. Not less than twenty persons have been killed or wounded; but neither in Baltimore nor elsewhere does this occasion surprise. Perhaps the marvel is that it is no worse in a place whose very name has become synonymous with riot and outrage.

Among others, Preston, the candidate for Congress from the Third Ward, was dangercasiy beaten, and such was the general tenor in the city that all Reformers, as they are called, and all decent and orderly citizens, perceived the inutility of attempting to vote; several of the polls being entirely in possession of the most desperate ruffians. Washington, too, it seems, sent forth large deputations of rowdies to assist their brothers in iniquity in the Monumental City, most appropriately so oulled; since it has become a monument of hame and lawlescness, of crime and cruelty that no effort of its citizens can overthrow.

For months past every effort, it would appear, has been made to quell the spirit of inwicesness in Baltimore; but, after all, the citisens have surrendered hope, and given up their bomes and firesides to the fury of a demoniacal mob. The fate of Baltimore, we fear, is sealed; but ere this be concaled, lat one more effort be made in favor of law, and reason and freedom may again dare to breath in atmosphere, only that it seems to be purified in blood.

Brown is Sentenced to be Hung.

Baows is in the fearful hands of the law, entenced to be hung in public on Friday, December 2. This is the full extent of time allowed by the code in such cases. Read the speech of the aged prisoner, when asked if he had my thing to say why the sentence should not be pronounced against him. His words and his bearing have effected a wonderful diversion in his favor in the minds of those who have censured him harshly. He will go to the scaffold an enthusiast, sacrificing himself in a vain effort to conquor in his cause by the sword. He will be a martyr to his distorted idea of propagating his principles. To our mind, the desperate and unpatriotic course he took will discredit the seeming conscientigusness, the fallsoious Christianity which prompted him: If Brown, an apparently good man, can make these violent attacks upon a slave State, others will do the like, and discord will reign, and disunion end the fillibustering for Freedom.

Another Proposed Change of a Street Railread Route.

The Passenger Railroad Company (route No. 4,) ask the City Council to change or exuend their route as follows: Said change beginning at the corner of Hoadly and Fifthstreets, thence north along Hoadly-street to Sixth-street, thence eastward along Sixth to Main-street, thence southward along Mainstreet to the track of the City Passenger Railroad Company, at the corner of Fifth and Main-streets, and thence over the track of the City Passenger Railroad Company to the present locaton of route No. four, (4,) at the corner of Main and Fourth-streets. Provided that the Company shall first obtain consent of their security to the change, and that the City Solicitor shall state in writing, to the Auditor, that the change will not conflict with the ordinance.

The District Court having decided that the office of Oity Marshal was abolished 4th of March last, and Mr. Robinson having received test in that office antil the excession of Judge Lows to the office as Police Judge, Mr. Krsztrb, desiring to everball any over-payment of the public money, last might introduced a resolution, which was adopted, directing the Law Committee and City Solicitor to inquire and report by what authority he received the people's money. It is supposed his fees during that time amounted to 3800. Mr. Gano, who has served since, has received $990.

Hanging of a Notorious Horse Thief. The Randolph (Ill.) Orison of Iste date has

On Saturday last, this noted horse-thief and penitentiary convict was hung by a mob at Renick, in this county, when being returned to Jefferson City to fill out we unexpired term in the penitentiary. He was captured the day before at Hudson City, during the progress of the Fair, in a ten-pin alley, where he had the boldness to make his appearance. It is said there were a number of citizens from other counties, who were acquainted with the character of the man, who followed him to that place with the citizens of that place, and those who had come from a distance, composing, we who had come from a distance, composing, we understand, some three or four hundred men, was held, and the vote was very decided in favor of hanging him, which was at once car-

The man bore a character of the meanest de-scription. We have learned a few facts in his history from a responsible citizen of this place, who has known him from a youth. Sexton was raised in the North-western part of Boone County, and when a boy was noted for his vi-cious habits. His father was a bad man, and served two years in the peutientiary, and died a few months after his release from the effects of whisky. He carried on his horse-thieving operations along the prairie from Boone County to the Iowa line, for a number of years past. He once broke out of the Paris jail when confined on this charge, but was re-taken, and sent to the penitentiary from that county. His term for that offense has not expired, as he managed to escape from that institution too. Our information also states that he learned from Sexton's relations in Boone County, that he and a brother went to California. While there, his brother, who was an industrious and worthy man, accumulated some money by his labor. When about to return, Sexton knocked him in the head with an axe, robbed him of his money, and left him for dead. The brother recovered, and returned to Boone County, where he now lives, but is entirely blind from the effects of the blow.

Maryland Election.

BALTIMORE, November 2. In the Fifth Ward the Reformers were driven off at an early hour. The son of Hon. Joshua Vansant was beaten while attempting to vote. Several shots were fired, but no person was injured. The First, Second and Fourth Wards are also in possession of the rowdies, to the total exclusion of all who oppose them. In the Twentieth Ward the rowdies are knocking down and maltreating whom they please. The police offer no protection to citi-zens. The rowdies have brought a swivel on the ground. Nonce, the proposal to "connect" was laid In the Twelfth and Fifteenth Wards, gange of rowdies from Washington, fully armed, are aiding the Baltimere "Roughs." The indications now are that the Reformers as a general thing have abandoned the contest, finding it impossible to vote without risking their lives.

In the Fifteenth Ward a boy has been mor-tally wounded by a shot in the breast.

There is much talk in the streets among the citizens of the propriety of establishing a Vigi-

BALTIMORN, 3-P. M. Wm. Preston, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Third District is now lying at Barnums Hotel badly beaten about the h with a "billy." The outrage is said to have been committed in the Seventh Ward. In the Eleventh Ward, which is the stronghold of the Reformers, Mr. George McGill, a prominent Reformer, made a speech and announced the withdrawal of Mr. Thomse, the candidate for Attorney General. The Reformers then all withdrew, finding it impossible to accomplish. anything.

Mr. Adam B. Kyle, who received a pisto ball in his temple this morning at the election poll in the Fifteenth Ward, was reported dead at two o'clock, but he was still alive an hour since, but his case is hopeless, as the ball is buried in his brain. At three o'clock Dr. Robinson, of the Central Reform Committee, visited the polls in the Eleventh Ward and announced that the Refermers had been driven from every Ward except that and the Eighth, and he therefore counselled the Reformers to withdraw to avoid further bloodshed. Thomas, the Reform Judge, retired, and the contest was abandoned. The Reformers throughout the city took the same course; leaving the polls in the hands of the dominant party. Numerous reports are affect with regard to minor outrages on the rights of the citizens in the several Wards. In the Second Ward Charles Barkbard, a German, was shot in the hip. In the Fifth Ward, a man whose name is unknown was dreadfully beaten. In relation to the assault upon Mr. Preston, the most reliable report is, that it occurred at Govanstown, in the Ninth District. One account says that the assailant was an Irishman, but it is difficult to arrive at the truth with so but it is difficult to arrive at the truth with romany conflicting reports. This evening the streets are nearly deserted, except by the boisterous party. The stores were generally closed at dark. The proprietor of the Exchange having been threatened with an assault upon his office, has made a demand on the city authorization are restorated. ties for protection.

BALTIMORE, 10-P. M. The Americans are rejoicing over their vic-tory in the city. The Reformers deny, how-ever, that anything that can be called an election has taken place. It will be late before any returns of the vote can be obtained, as there were a large number of officers voted for and all on one ticket. In the Seventeenth Ward it is reported that the average vote for the American ticket is 850, and the average vote on the Reform ticket only twenty-four.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, November 2. Mr. Conner, the United States Consul at Mazatlan, is now here. He has obtained from the Constitutional Government several sions of a commercial character, one o concessions of a commercial character, one of which is the permission to run a steamer on the Mexican Pacific coast under the Amerithe Mexican Pacific coast under the American fig. He has partially made arrangements with one of the steamship companius to connect with its line at Acupulco, thereby affording a direct steam communication on that coast twice a month.

The dispatches from Consul Black to the State Department show that Ormond Chasis was most maliciously murdered in Mexico by the officers belonging to the Church party. All that it was in the President's power to do, will be or has been done in view of that crime. If more than necessary to protect the lives If more than necessary to protect the lives and property of American citizens in that country, Congress must provide for their means. There is no doubt that the President will premptly present this subject in his annual message.

The friends of the Constitutional Government in Mexico think that it is highly essential that Senor Zerdo should immediately return to Vera Cruz in order to exert his indu-ence toward a consummation of the pending treaty with the United States.

General Garan, the Minister from New Grenada, is in the city. The prospect now is that that Republic will ratify the treaty as amended by the United States Senate. The Heavy Forgery in New York.

A report is current that a tobacco broker, whose name is announced, has committed a forgery or a breach of trust, involving from $50,000 to $80,000.

Trial of the Insurrectionists.

CHARLESTOWN, VA., November 2. Messrs. Russell and Lennet, atterneys from Boston, reached here to-day. Cook was brought before the Magistrate's Court, but waived an examination. He was committed for trial.

Coppe's trial was resumed. No witnesses were called for the defense. Mr. Harding opened the argument for the Commonwealth and Hoyt and Griswold followed for the defendant. Mr. Hunter closed for the prosecution. The speeches were of marked ability. Mr. Griswold asked for several instructions which were all granted by the Court. The jury then retired. Brown was then brought into the Court House, which was immediately thronged. The Court gave its decision on the motion to arrest judgment, overruling the objections made. On the objection that treasen can not be committed arguments a State except by a citizen, it mitted against a State except by a citizen, it ruled that wherever allegiance was due, tresson may be committed; most of the States have passed laws against treason. The objections as to the form of the verdict rendered were also regarded as insufficient.

The Clerk then asked Brown whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, when Brown stood up, and in a clear and distinct voice said: "I have, may it please the Court, a few words to say. In the first place, I deny everything but what I have all along admitted—the design on my part to free the slaves—I intended certainly part to free the slaves—I intended certainly to have made a clean thing of that matter, as I did last winter when I went into Missouri and then took the slaves without the snapping of a gun on either side, and I moved them through the country, and finally left them in Canada. I designed to have done the same thing again on a larger scale. That the same thing again on a larger scale. That was all I intended; I never did intend to commit murder or treason or to destroy prop-erty, or to excite or incite the slaves to rebellion, or to excite or indice the staves to reser-lion, or to make an insurrection. I have an-other objection, and that is unjust that I should suffer such a penalty. Had I inter-fered in the manner which I admit, and which I admit has been fairly proved, for I admire the truthfulness and candor of the admire the truthfulness and candor of the greater portion of the witnesses who have testified in this case. Had I so interfered in behalf of the rich, the powerful, the intelligent, the so-called great, or in behalf of their friends, either father, mother, brother, sister, wife or children, or any of that class, and suffered and sacrificed what I have in this interference, it would have been all right. Every man in this Court would have deemed it an act worthy of reward rather than punit an act worthy of reward rather than punishment.

This Court acknowledges, I suppose, the validity of the law of God. I see a book kissed here which I suppose to be the Bible, or at least the New Testament, that teaches me that all things whatspever I would that men should do unto me, I should do even so unto them; it teaches me further, to remember them that are in bonds as bound with them. I endeavored to act up to that instruction. I say I am yet too young to understand that God is any respector of persons. I believe that to have interfered as I have done, as I have always freely admitted I have done in behalf of his despised poor was no wrong, but right now it is deemed necessary that I should forfeit my life for the furtherance of the ends of justice, and mingle my blood further with the blood of my children and with the blood of millions in this slave country, whose rights are disre-garded by wicked, cruel and unjust enact-ments, I admit; so let it be done. I feel en-tirely satisfied with the treatment I have received on my trial, considering all the circum-stances. It has been more generous than I expected, but I feel no conscientiousness of guilt. I have stated from the first what was my intentions, and what was not. I neverhad any design against the life of any person, nor any disposition to commit treason or to excite the slaves to rebel or make any general insurrection—never encouraged any man to do so, but always discouraged any idea of that kind. Let me say also in regard to the statements made by some of those connected with me. I hear it has been staced by some of them that I induced them to join me, but the contrary is true. I do not say this to injure them, but as regretting their weakness; not one joined me but of his own accord, and the greater part at their own expense; a number of them I never saw and never had a word of conversation with till the day they came to me, and that was for the purpose I have stated. Now I have done."

While Brown was speaking perfect quiet pre-vailed. When he had finished the Court proeded to pronounce the sentence. After a few preliminary remarks, in which he said no reasonable doubt could exist as to the prisoner's guilt, he sentenced him to be hung, in public, on Friday, December 2.

Brown received the sentence with composare. The only demonstration made was with the clapping of hands by one man in the crowd, who was not a resident of Jefferion County. This was promptly suppressed, and much regret was expressed by the citizens at its occurrence.

After being out an hour, the jury in the case of Coppee returned with a verdict declaring Coppee guilty on all the counts of the indist-ment. His counsel gave notice of a motion to arrest judgement, as in Brown's case. The Court then adjourned.

Marine Disaster-Loss of Life.

NEW YORK, November 2. The steamer Champion, hence this morning from New Haven, when off Malonicock Point, came in collision with the propeller Albatross and sank almost instantaneously. She had between thirty and forty passengers, and a crew of ten men; of these, three passengers and one freman are missing and supposed to be drowned. One of the missing is a Mr. Steele, of New Haven. At the moment of the concussion the boiler of the Champion exploded, scalding one fire-man to death. The remainder of the passengers and crew were taken off by the Albatross.

The Champion had a large amount of freight, and all the baggage of the passengers lost. She does not belong to the regular line of New Haven boats, but had only this morning taken the place of the Traveler, which was damaged yesterday in a collision with a

ARREST OF A MURDERER IN ST. LOUIS. AREFER OF A MURDERER IN ST. LOUIS.—
About six months ago, a man named John Hines, who, it is alleged, is a most desperate character, deliberately, and without provocation, shot down and killed, at Fort Wayne, Indiana, a young man named William Wilson,
a merchant of that city; and Hines, it appears,
was a married man, and believed, from some cause, that Wilson had had improper intimacy with his wife. Hines, arming himself with a double-barreled shot gun, went in search of Wilson.

Finding him, he charged him with the of-fense, which Wilson denied, and attempted to escape. Wilson ran a short distance, when he was shot down, and in a few moments died. Hines escaped. A resident of that place, who gives his name rs Dr. Barnes, has, for some months past, been in search of the accused. He found him at a beer saloon in this city yes-terday, or rather Hines found Barne, for the latter did not know Hines when he saw him. Hines was sent to the calaboose, were he still remains.—Herald of Wednesday.
